THE NATIONAL MUSEUM

Repairs and Improvements to Be Completed Next Week.

Some Changes That Will Benefit the Exhibits-The Needs of the Smith. sonian Institution-Curators Hampered by a Luck of Space-A Plea Extended for Another Building.

The repairs and improvements that are being made to the southern hall of the National Museum, it was said today, will be completed next week. Frederick W. True, the executive curator of the Museum, said the repairs would make a much needed change in the building. The principal improvement being made is the addition of a large wall case, with a glass front, in which will be placed as many effigies of the large North American carnivorous anireals as possible, such as seals, walrusses sea lions, bears, and wolves. The ba ance of the mammais to be exhibited in this hall will be rearranged so as to show to the best advantage, and some at present not on exhibition will be added.

About a year ago when the new galleries were completed; it was undertaken to place the entire exhibition series of North American mammals on the ground floor and exhibit the foreign forms on the galleries. The present improvements, it was said, are in continuation of this p an. Mr. True stated that they expect to have on this floor the finest and most complete representative series of North American mammals in the world.

In the southeast corner of the Museum an increase in the exhibition space is bean increase in the exhibition space is being made which will at the same time yield additional laboratory space. The gallery is being extended to form a floor, so that the building is divided into an upper and lower story. The lower floor will be used for exhibition purposes and the upper for laboratories.

New skylights have been put in the four courts of the Museum building, adding courts of the Museum building, adding greatly to the amount of light received. It was explained that the National Mu seum is very much hampered by lack of seum is very much hampered by lack of room for study series, in the various branches of natural history, and anthropology; and that another building of the same size as the one now occupied ought to be supplied at an early date.

The present Museum and the Smithsonian Institute, it was said, are crowded to overflowing, and the hope was expressed that Congress would early make an appropriation that would give the National Museum the possibilities for exhibition Museum the possibilities for exhibition and study that such an institution deserves. The present building, it was said, could very well be entirely utilized for the anthropological collections, and mother of its size is needed for natural history subjects. Said Mr. True: "The present buildings are inadequate and unsuitable, and by no amount of ingenuity can they be made adequate to the requirements. The country owes it to the Smithsonian Institution to provide a good commodious building for the very valuable collections which it has made. The collections are not fully appreci-ated now because of the crowding neces-sary, the large number of exhibits that cannot be exhibited, and the necessity for dividing allied subjects and scatter-ing the exhibits throughout the space we have. The Smithsoaian Institution was never intended for a Museum, and the new Museum was creeted only as a temperary building for that purpose. In ad-dition, the force allowed is too small to perform the work that should be done. But we are doing the best we can, and slowly making improvements; but it is to be bened that Congress will deal lib-

Prospects for a Very Successful Entertalument Saturday Night.

From present indications, the dinner of the Gridiron Club, at the Arlington Hotel, next Saturday night, will be one of the most notable in the history of the organization. Besides the many persons distinguished in private life, there will be present a number of Senators, Representatives and Army and naval officers.

Several unique features will be pro-vided for the entertainment of the guests, and it is the intention to conduct the affair on the same elaborate scale that he characterized the annual gatherings of the club. It is the purpose of the club to make each season's events of equal in-The entertainments will be given in De-

Favorable Criticisms of the Wife Anger the Husband. HYDE PARK, Vt., Dec. 7 .- At the hearing of the application of Julia Marlowe Taber, the actress, for a divorce from Robert S. Taber, here, the testimony showed that Mr. Taber was jealous of his wife on account of the more favorable newspaper criticisms she received. In 1896 he began to show a coolness toward her which increased until September, 1898. In two cases Mr. Taber became so enraged that, it was testified, he seized her by her throat it was testified, he seized her by her throat severely. This happened once in New York and once in Utah.

At another time at Atlanta, Ga., he be-came to enraged at reading the compli-ments paid to Mrs. Taber, by the newspapers that he overthrew the table at which they were breakfasting. Neither the petidefendant was in court.

Most of the testimony was given by affi-davit. Miss Daley, who has been Mrs. Taber's maid for several years, was pres-ent, and testified to seeing Mr. Taber selze Mrs. Taber by the throat and choke her severely while they were in Utah. An agreement was filed between the parties that in case the bill was granted Mrs. Taber should receive an alimony of $3,000. The decision has not been yet been an-

SPENT THE NIGHT AT SEA. Perilous Trip of Four Men in

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 .- James Waterbury Caton, of Babylon, L. I., and three friends dragged themselves ashore at the Battery vesterday morning from Mr. Eaton's aptha launch, the Clip, after an all-nigh fight with wind and wave. They were drenched to the skin and the launch was partially filled with water. Mr. Eaton had often safely made the voyage from Babylon to this city in the launch, and when he invited three friends at Babylon to accompany him last Tues-day night they promptly accepted. The launch had covered half of the trip when the machinery broke down. A strong northwest wind began to blow, and the yacht drifted seaward.

The wind went down at midnight, how-ever, and by dint of oars and sail, with the assistance of the tide, the launch reached the Romer Beacon. There she re-mained until yesterday morning, when the craft started again for New York. The guests spent the night in bailing, and this probably saved them from freezing to Publications Issued by the Agricultural Department.

The Work Greatly Exceeds That of Any Previous Year-The Cost of ifested-Value of Pamphlets-Increase in the Number of Bulletins.

There are but very few people not employed in the division of publications of the Department of Agriculture, who have any conception of the extent of the work of this part of the Government. In a report just made by the Secretary of Agriculture he says:

"During the year 603 different publications were issued, aggregating 26,420 pages of printed matter, and the total number of copies was 7.075.975, greatly exceeding the work of any previous year. Of this number, 176 were Farmers' Bulletins, of which 2,437,600 copies were printed and distributed. The cost of printing these publications was $91,966.59, and of blanks, blank books, etc., $36,624.93, making the 591.52. There was naid for artists and illustrations, labor and materials in connection with the distributing of documents, and for artists' supplies, $29,836.55, making the total expenditures under the supervision of the Division of Publications, exclusive of the amount appropriated for statutory sala-ries, $158,428.07. Un-der the law, when Senators, Representa-tives, and Delegates do not avail them-selves of the entire number of Farmers' Bulletins allotted to them, the same re-vert to the Department for miceollaneous Bulletins allotted to them, the same revert to the Department for miscellaneous distribution or for satisfying further Congressional orders. I am therefore able, for the current year, to increase the quota of Farmers' Bulletins allotted to Members of Congress from 4,000 to 5,000 copies. During the year 22 new Farmers' Bulletins were issued, and 154 of those heretofore published were reprinted. Most of the bulletins of this zeries are of permanent value, and are therefore suitable for continuous distribution. It is my intention to still further increase this zeries by adding to it bulletins upon such ries by adding to it bulletins upon such subjects as the people seem to require information, and to give the same the widest possible distribution. The total number of Farmers' Bulletins issued since the series was inaugurated up to the close of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1894 was just 100, and the total number of cop-ies printed was 11,270,500, of which Senators, Representatives, and Delegates in Congress have received and distributed 6,851,752.

'Yearbook' for 1899 is now course of preparation and is modeled in accordance with the plan suggested in my last report. It will contain a resume of the achievements in the United States in every branch of science related to agricul-ture during the nineteenth century, and it is hoped that Congress. will ape the proprie-ty of ordering an extra number, say 20,000, for distribution at the Paris Exposition in 1900. In conection with our agricultural exhibit, the distribution of special-bound copies of this publication would serve the useful purpose of acquisition foreign copies of this publication would serve the useful purpose of acquainting foreign countries with the achievements in agriculture in the United States."

For years this concern has stood at the very head of the wholesale shoe trade-and the volume of its business was in full proportion to the excellence of the shoes handled. But the recent death of the surviving partner necessitated a winding up of its affairs-forcing a closing out of the entire stock, at a very co nsiderable sacrifice.

We were one of about 200 firms throughout the country who attended the sale. There were "jobs" in this stock. But we left those to others as not worthy of your attention. For we make it a positive rule never to buy what we cannot sell with every assurance of its giving satisfaction. So we limited OUR selection EXCLUSIVELY to the better grades-and the spot cash we laid down commanded even an extra discount on the already greatly reduced prices. The full benefit of it is passed to you this morning. Understand the "worth" prices as given mean the ACTUAL values—not the estimated nor fiction values.

They are strictly new, fresh, stylish goods. Not odds and ends of broken sizes-but full and complete lots. It is by all odds the most extraordinary sale that has taken place within the year.
